LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

If it's right it's right, and if it's wrong it's wrong

To the editor:

I'm so darn sick of hearing and reading about the Voter family's fight with the town of Strong. If it's right for them to have their right of way or whatever, the town should do it.

The Voter Family has been here forever, so I can't see the problem. People should have rights, especially those that have been here all their lives.

The town should do it without all the lawsuits and arguing.

It's disgusting to see the selectmen think they know everything. When they get into office, all common sense goes out the window.

I'm an old lady and have seen you all grow up(???). I've also raised five children and taught them, "If you can't do things right, don't do it at all."

So I think (and a lot of people think) the selectmen should do what is right and get it over with. If it's right it's right, and if it's wrong it's wrong. That's not very hard to figure out.

To the town of Kingfield and beyond

To the editor:

I want to thank everyone, family and friends, for their help, from those who gave me rides, piggyback rides, plowed and shoveled to those who sanded the driveway. Thanks to the businesses and friends who donated to the raffle.

And thanks to my two daughters; Miranda being my legs and Kerry working extra to help out.

You're all so wonderful!

Peace and love to all,

Thanks for supporting our Special Olympics Team

To the editor:

Our team competed in the Special Olympics Winter Games at Sugarloaf.

We know lots of people helped so we could have a good time. The game wardens, students at Unity College and CVA, the Amvets from Jay, the insurance people, and the people from Carrabassett Valley made food, helped with serving, helped with timing and medals, gave snowmobile rides, and did other things. The people who work at Sugarloaf were nice to us, too.

Thank you all for supporting us.

Disheartened

To the editor:

We are a small group who for the past 10 years has tried to help community members during difficult times.

It has come to our attention that some gift certificates have been used for the purchase of alcohol and/or tobacco products. We are taking measures to see this does not occur again.

Although we are disheartened, we will continue to support our friends and neighbors.
