Serving the Western Mountains of Maine Where the Kids Grow Straight and Tall and the Women are all Good Looking.

Not your typical school day

A Mt. Abram High School student, led by Poland Spring's Mark LaPlante (left), conduct scientific research along with the U.S. Geological Survey and Maine Geological Survey. Aaron McGinness, an MTA junior, uses a snow tube to record base depth and water content. If you go to the official Snowpack Survey Web site, you'll see that Mt. Abram High School is a data collection contributor. The site is designed to offer warnings for the potential of spring flood hazards. See story on Page 1.
