Special sale benefits Phillips library

PHILLIPS -- Coats and hats and bags, Oh My... "Wow!" doesn't describe the feeling one gets looking at the recent donations to the mid winter fundraiser for the Phillips Public Library, note event volunteers.

Twelve years ago it started at Phillips Hardware and was billed as the Chinese Auction. Four years ago it outgrew the space at the hardware store and was moved to the library building on Main Street. That year an E-mail criticized the library for the name "Chinese Auction" therefore it was changed to the Penny Sale Auction, referring to the tickets that are purchased by that name.

It has continued to grow no matter what it's called or where it's held. More people are bringing boxes of items as their way of helping the library. Not everything is suitable for the auction so they are tagged and sold on a separate table. This also grew and last year a huge indoor yard sale preceded the auction.

Again, this time with the donation of so many coats, hats and bags, the group of volunteers have set a special time for a sale. Feb. 3, 4, 5 and 6 the items pictured here will be on sale.

The coats are mostly large sizes, some men's and the rest women's. Some of the labels in the coats are: 77 Originals New York, Woolrich, Bromley Sport, Ed Hardy Christian Audigier, Polo Ralph Lauren, Pelle,

I had lived with shoulder pain—off and on—for 20 years, but when I could no longer move my arm and had to start sleeping in my chair to relieve the pain, I knew it was time for a joint replacement.

“Dr. Cummings did such a great job I am back to splitting wood and working on my woodlots at the age of 91!”

The hospital care and follow-up therapy I received left me pain-free within three to four months. I now have a full range of motion with absolutely no pain at all.
